MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1884

WAIT A LITTLE.

An esteemed democratic contemporary of eastern Oregon appears to be out of patience with THE OREGONIAN because it does not come out in support of the democratic party on the tariff question. First, however, would it not be well for the democratic party to ascertain what its own position on the tariff question is? Its free trade and protection factions are flying at each other's throats and reading each other out of the party, and the new recruit in the party would be sadly puzzled at this time to find out just what the tariff principles of the party are. Moreover he might well fear that he would not be able to make himself comfortable in this inharmonious and unhappy family.

The historical record of the democratic party on the tariff question is a record both for free trade and protection. Its history, therefore, corresponds with its present position on the subject. In congress at this time the protectionists are the weaker faction, and possibly they are the weaker faction also among the masses of the party. But they are powerful enough to prevent the party from enacting any measure of tariff reduction, and in many states they constitute about all there is of the party. Not to mention Pennsylvania, because it is a pronounced republican state, we find the democratic protectionists largely in the ascendant in Connecticut, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana; they are powerful also in New York, and have positive strength in many southern states. Democratic journals of Louisiana and Tennessee assert in the most earnest and positive manner that those states will not stand by the party on the issue of a tariff for revenue only, and if our Pendleton contemporary wants to find out what its democratic brethren of eastern Oregon think on the subject let it insist on the adoption of a resolution in the democratic platform, to be made at The Dalles a few days hence, calling for the enactment of the Morrison tariff bill, which provides for the further reduction of the duty on wool.

Will not our esteemed democratic contemporary therefore suspend its call upon THE OREGONIAN to come into the democratic party on this issue of tariff reduction, at least till it sees what The Dalles platform is going to say about it? It is no long time to wait. The Dalles convention will be held on the 17th of the present month, and perhaps then we shall know whether the democratic party of Oregon is going with Randall or with Morrison. Very likely it will go with Morrison on the main issue, but with Randall on wool—wool being the only Oregon product as yet affected by the tariff. In that case of course our democratic friends cannot complain if their party brethren in Pennsylvania insist on having ample protection for pig iron, or if their New Jersey brethren demand full protection for pottery, carpets, spool cotton, and so on. Any examination of the subject, however slight, will show that the prospect of getting a reduction of the tariff through the democratic party is not assuring. The party will not do as much in that direction as the republican party did last session, when it passed a tariff bill that effected certain reductions, every one of which has since been complained of by democrats in one section of the country or another just as the democrats of Oregon have complained of the reduction of the duty on wool.

THE OPENING OF SPRING.

The dwellers on the Pacific coast can boast one of the most delightful climates in the world; but where winter imposes no hardships, spring fails to afford that keen delight, that ever new surprise with which her tardy coming is welcomed in more rigorous climes. Those cold countries which Heine satirized as having no other ripe fruit than baked apples, are not without natural advantages peculiar to themselves. The changes of the seasons are there so sharply accentuated that they can hardly fail to strike the most indifferent observer. One day all nature seems locked in the chill embrace of winter; the next, one may catch a glimpse of spring, wearing her shawl hugged about her shoulders, and when, next day she appears, it is lightly trailing from her arm. Beneath the "Presto change" of the Great Magician, the whole world bursts at once into verdure and bloom. The sudden, transporting effect savors less of earth than heaven. Like the music of the spheres, it seems to beckon men away from the sphere of the common world which Goethe says binds us all.

But in mild countries like this, where the spring advances slowly, her coming is less observed. For days, for weeks perhaps, she vainly invites the sealed eye to open to her beauties, the sluggish heart to waken to her charms. With soft persistence she reveals her loveliness more and more. The wild currant flames upon the hillsides, and in the low lands the white trillium blooms, until at last there comes a day when our sluggish hearts awaken and our blind eyes see. Then it is that we are reminded of those far off elysian fields described by Homer where dwells Radamanthus with the golden hair, where life is ever sweet and sorrow is not, nor winter nor any rain nor storm, and the never dying breezes blow soft and cool from off the ocean.

We have often admired the healthy optimism of the boy, in one of the books we read in childhood, who said in the spring, "Oh, that it were always spring!" and in the winter exclaimed: "Oh, that it were always winter!" The Ettrick shepherd said, "there is no such thing in nature as bad weather," and he spent most of his days in a Scotch mist which comes about as near being bad weather as it can be "considering the number of inhabitants" in the Highland, if we may adopt the Yankee witticism respecting the amount of thunder to the number of inhabitants which Lowell says is one of the best specimens of Yankee wit he ever heard. The weather affects us very much according to our moods. Coleridge said, "a peculiar melancholy comes over me alike in the spring and in the autumn: but in the spring it is melancholy of hope, in the autumn it is the melancholy of despair." Hope can be said to be melancholy only because of the fleeting nature of the promises it awakens. We know that the flowers will soon fade and the grass will soon wither. "It appeareth but a little time and then vanishes away." But melancholy is not the natural feeling of spring time. We need not dwell upon its transitory nature. Our natural impulse is to seize the day and make the most of it, even though it is short. Thackeray did not think any the less of roast beef, or enjoy it any the less, because it was transitory. Nature invites us outward from ourselves at this time, and it is better to respond to the invitation and take a healthy objective sense of things. It is not the time to have "the eye of bat and the heart of bug." We should yield to the genial influence of the season and "lift the eye up to the style and manner of the sky," exhibiting in our feelings and conduct the ennobling spirit of our natural surroundings. The old Greeks had a delightful kind of appreciation of nature, and we can not bring this article to a more fitting close than by quoting Anacharsis' beautiful description of the spring in Attica. "In the happy climate wherein I reside," he said, "the spring is like the morning of a beautiful day. We then enjoy the blessings which it gives and those which it promises. Oh, god of pleasures! Oh, spring! I have this year beheld thee in all thy glory. You traversed as a conqueror the fields of Greece and scattered from your head the flowers which were to embellish them. You appeared in the valleys and they were changed into smiling meads; you were seen on the mountains and serpyllum and thyme exhaled a thousand perfumes; you rose into the air and diffused all around you the serenity of your smile. The loves eagerly hastened to you at your call and cast on every side their flaming darts, enkindling the whole earth. All things revived to receive new embellishments and were embellished to give new pleasures. Oh, resplendent days! Oh, delicious nights!"

VINEYARDS OF THE FUTURE.

Tillage of the soil in the Pacific states is fast approaching a period of revolution. The production of wheat for exportation to the United Kingdom is an industry already tottering on its feet, for two reasons: the first being the great distance from market, and the second, the growing competition of the British provinces along the Indian ocean. British capital is very conservative, and if they can bring Indian wheat to the English mills as cheaply as they can wheat from the Pacific states of America, the conservative Britons will not [illegible].

The decline of grain culture in California, outside of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, really astonishes anyone who has not visited the Sonoma, Napa and Santa Clara valleys since 1870. Lands that then were covered with countless acres of waving wheat and oats are now turned into orchards and vineyards on every side, the grapes grown on the flats being of the varieties used for the table, while the hillsides are covered with vines designed wholly for the manufacture of wine. The manufacture of table wines has revolutionized wine drinking in America. So long as the Mission grape only was used the California wines contained too much sugar and alcohol, which was especially true of the Angelica and Cucamonga varieties. But a new departure began when the Hungarian vines were introduced into California. The Fiber Zagos, one of the varieties, has superseded all others in the manufacture of raisins; and for red wines, the Zinfandel, another Hungarian variety, now holds the top notch. The Gutedel, another German grape, is dividing first honors with the Risling, as a staple for the manufacture of white wine. The wines from these grapes find ready sale at fifty cents per quart bottle, and are sold in bulk at about $1 30 per gallon.

The excellence of these wines, as compared with their cost, has firmly established them in popular favor, for it is impossible to buy red Chambertin at a dollar per bottle that will equal the Zinfandel in purity and freedom from deleterious ingredients; and the Sauternes sold at two dollars per bottle do not surpass, one time in twenty, the California-made Risling and Gutedel retailed at seventy-five cents per bottle for well kept wine which has accumulated richness with age. Indeed, the great drawback to the California wines, in the past, has been their want of age, owing to the anxiety of California wine-makers to get back the money invested in their product. This is easily explained, however, by the fact that in France money is well loaned at 3 per cent. per annum, while in California it never commands less than twice that sum. Hence the California wines are thrown on the market from two to five years sooner than they would have been if made in France or Germany.

We are frequently asked if we consider Oregon a wine-growing state, and are compelled to answer in the negative so far as any comparisons with California are concerned. Nevertheless we have four counties in the state in which wine-growing could be made a good paying industry which time must necessarily develop and improve. The counties of Wasco and Umatilla have countless acres of lands well adapted to grape culture, with long seasons of hot summer and autumn weather well calculated to ripen the grape in the highest state of perfection. The greatest objection to those counties, however, is the severe winters, which are liable either to kill the vines in the ground or else materially impair their bearing for the succeeding season. But in Jackson and Josephine counties no such obstacle presents itself. The winters are mild and the summers long, so that the vines will need comparatively little nursing after their second year in the ground. And while wine manufacture in the border counties has barely advanced beyond an experimental stage, yet enough has been realized by such experiments as to give good ground for the belief that viticulture must be the leading industry of our two southern counties before another decade shall have passed away.

All the old mining counties of California are now becoming famous for production of healthy vineyards and good grapes; and that, too, upon soil wholly unfitted for any other product. The counties embracing the foothills of the Sierras—Shasta, Tehama, Butte, Yuba, Placer, El Dorado, Calaveras, Tuolumne and Mariposa—which were depopulated ten years ago, owing to the decline of placer mining, are now growing anew in population and showing an annual increase of taxable property. This is more especially true of Placer and El Dorado counties, both of which lie upon the track of the Central Pacific railroad, by which they are enabled to ship grapes to Chicago and lay them down in that city one day fresher than those gathered in the vineyards about the bay of San Francisco. Between these two counties on the west slope of the Sierras and the two southern counties of Oregon there is but little climatic discrepancy and we are confident that our Oregon counties do not suffer by the comparison. As yet, viticulture in Jackson and Josephine has been confined almost entirely to flat lands in the Rogue river valley.

The real value of this industry has not yet become apparent to the people of that locality, nor will it until they begin to tear up the manzanita bushes on their hillsides and replace them with Zinfandel or Risling grapevines. Then lands that are now worth $1 25 per acre will command ready sale at ten times that price and all the old, worked-out mining claims having a southern exposure will command good figures. Wherever the manzanita grows the grape will thrive, but the vines will have a healthier growth and need less care when planted on the north side of a valley or gulch, in order to get the southern exposure. Keep the valley lands for grain and vegetables, and plant the vineyards on the hillsides. The present population of Jackson county is about eight thousand, whereas she has sufficient land to support that many people at grape culture alone, to say nothing of other vocations.

People may sneer at these ideas and say that Oregon lies too far north to become a wine-producing state, but let us ask them, what about the wines made in Ohio and western New York? Nearly all the available lands about Seneca lake are now being cultivated to the Catawba grape, and one wine factory, twelve miles from Seneca Falls, turns out 240,000 bottles of wine per year. Let those who drank, twenty years ago, the rich and fruity wine turned out by Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati ask themselves if ever they drank any California champagne that was its equal, much less its superior? And we have a much milder climate in the Rogue river valley than either the shores of Seneca lake or the hills about Cincinnati. If the Fiber Zagos grape will not thrive there and give us plenty of Oregon raisins we are badly mistaken, and if the Risling and Zinfandel grapes do not furnish the desired quality of wine they have still the Catawba vine to fall back upon. In our own belief Oregon can more than furnish her own wine already. She has no lack of good lands for vineyard purposes and the requisite climate for producing a superior article of native wine. What she most needs is an influx of population from the south of Europe, so that she will be sure of the presence of some practical wine makers.

"A Lumberman" answers some remarks published yesterday on the action of the mill men and lumber dealers of Portland, who made a combination to put up and hold up the prices of lumber last year, by saying that it was a necessary measure of self-protection on the part of sawmill owners, who had to pay last year from 50 to 75 per cent. more for logs than formerly, and 10 to 25 per cent. more for labor. Hence, he thinks the mill men were spoken of harshly by THE OREGONIAN. It may be admitted that there is much in this plea, and yet after all there would seem to have been no better reason last year for the combination rates on lumber than there is now, when such rates do not exist. To those who were compelled last year to pay very high prices, the combination rates, which had never existed before, were the patent fact. Yet it is beyond doubt that the absurd "boom" of last year had much to do with matters; and to this extent our sawmill correspondent is right.

Blaine, it is said, does not expect the republican nomination, and having failed at two national conventions will not risk a third failure. Therefore his name will not be presented, except in the improbable contingency of finding himself at the outset with a majority over all others. His object is said to be to secure delegates enough to be able to dictate the nomination and to deserve well of the successful candidate.

SALE OF ENGINE HOUSES.—AT A REGULAR meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners, held February [illegible] 1884, an order was made to dispose of by public auction engine houses Nos. 3, 5 and 6, formerly used by volunteer department. In conformity with said order, the Fire Commissioners will, on the 1st day of April 1884, at the hour of 11 A. M., at office of Commissioners, 21 Union block, sell at public auction to the highest bidder or bidders for cash U. S. gold coin the following property: Engine house and lot known as Company No. 3, situate on north side of Washington street, between Second and Third; house and lot known as Company No. 5, situate east side Fourth street, between Mill and Montgomery streets; house and lot known as Couch 6, situate on north side of G street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. Subject to following (Sec. 10 senate bill 73, legislative assembly 1882): "That all sales of real property made by Fire Commissioners shall be subject to the approval of the Common Council, evidenced by a majority vote." Upon such sales being made by Commissioners and approved by Common Council, the Mayor and auditor and clerk of the city of Portland shall execute, acknowledge and deliver to purchaser or purchasers good and sufficient deeds of conveyance.

ANDREW ROBERTS

This old reliable clothing, furnishing and hat store at the corner of First and Alder streets is one of the best and oldest in Portland. The effort of the proprietor at all times has been to keep in stock a line of goods that may be safely recommended as first class. Mr. Roberts has perfected arrangements with eastern manufacturers by which he has selected material . . . all his ready made clothing and the best of workmen only are employed in its production. He goes east about the first of May to buy cloths and superintend the manufacturing of the same. In this way a lot of ready made clothing of this store really custom made . . . the only difference between them and the goods proinally made . . . sizes and grades of goods, the customer can be fitted . . . as if ordered from a tailor. In addition to this Mr. Roberts has a first class cutter and tailor in his own employ who will take . . . orders and . . . full supply of the latest styles. . . . these goods at low prices for an extra quality of goods that are unexcelled in the city. Mr. Roberts has just received . . .

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1884.

NEWS OF SATURDAY.

Condensed from THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN.

Arranging for the Republican Convention.

CHICAGO, April 5.—A meeting of the sub-committee of the national republican committee was held here this afternoon for the purpose of arranging the preliminaries for the coming national convention. Hon. John C. New of Indiana, John A. Martin of Kansas, and John A. Clough, proxy for Senator Logan, were present. New also held the proxy for Powell Clayton of Arkansas. Plans for the convention hall, made by the musical festival committee, were adopted, with a modification to increase the seating capacity of the gallery so that the hall will accommodate 8000 or 9000, exclusive of the platform for delegates, which has a seating capacity of 1000. Provision is made for the daily press of the country on as liberal a basis as possible, and a repertorial force of about 600 can be accommodated. Applications from the daily press for seats will be considered by the sub-committee at the next meeting. Inasmuch as the whole country is to be provided for it is expected that daily newspapers will only apply for such number of seats as may be absolutely necessary. The committee call attention to the fact that the associated press will make full and complete reports of every detail and transaction of the convention, for which it will have ample facilities. Journals wanting accommodations for special reporters should apply to the sub-committee, addressing Hon. John C. New, chairman, Indianapolis, within three days. Owing to the restricted accommodations the committee find it impossible to make any provision for the weekly press of the country.

RIOT NEWS.

New York Police Excited Over a Socialist Meeting—Matters at Cincinnati.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The socialistic labor party demonstration at Cooper Institute to-night was an imposing gathering, in point of numbers and enthusiasm. It was called mainly to give expression to the opinion of the socialists in New York on the recent riot at Cincinnati. Anonymous circulars, predicting trouble as the outcome of the meeting, had been sent to the police department during the day. In consequence a large police force, both in uniform and civilian dress, was detailed to attend the meeting. Police headquarters after nightfall resembled an armed camp. Before the time of the meeting detachments of police began to arrive, and were quartered in the court room up stairs and in the basement, until nearly 300 men were there. Reserves were also stationed at the precincts nearest the elevated railroads, whence men could be sent quickly to any threatened point. The men at headquarters were dismissed at 10:30, as there has been no sign or apprehension whatever of any disturbance.

MATTERS AT CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, April 5.—At a meeting of the Bar Association this morning a most determined purpose was exhibited to restore quickly the lost library. There was an insurance of $17,000 in four companies, but three had a clause exempting them from liability in the case of loss by riot. An assessment of $100 per member was ordered. This produced nearly $8,000. Subscriptions were taken in addition in sums ranging from $100 to $1000. A large number are giving from private libraries. It is thought that the library will soon be restored as far as possible, but some volumes were lost which cannot be replaced.

CINCINNATI, April 5.—No progress appears to have been made by the citizens' committee toward securing a citizens' guard 2000 strong, to take the place of the military.

FOREST FIRES.

Additional Particulars of the Conflagration in the Carolinas.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 5.—The forest fires that occurred in several sections of the state this week were caused by farmers burning brush to clear planting ground. Three miles east of Killian's station, and seven miles north of Columbia, fires swept away houses, mills, barns and fencing. The flames continued unchecked until the Wateree river was reached, a distance of twenty miles. Jones & Killian lost their mill and 450 barrels of rosin. Many persons are doubtless homeless. Communication with the devastated district is very difficult. Charleston advices report as follows: In Allen county the damages are slight; in Chesterfield county a boggy swamp is reported on fire, and a number of buildings and outhouses were destroyed; forests are on fire in Berkeley county, and several houses in the village of Cordesville were burned. Fire is reported from several other counties, but not of a serious character.

IN NORTH CAROLINA.

RALEIGH, April 5.—Reports of damage by forest fires continue. In Johnston county a fresh fire broke out, destroying a great quantity of timber, as well as several dwellings. The people are greatly alarmed and labor unceasingly night and day combating the flames. Along the line of the Carolina Central railroad the woods are burning for a distance of sixty miles. In Moore, Robeson, Johnston, Cumberland, Pender and Richmond counties the bulk of the damage was done. A number of people are homeless. Nearly all the sawmills in some sections are burned, as well as churches and dwellings. Turpentine orchards of 5000 to 10,000 trees each were burned, almost ruining the owners. The fire is a heavy blow to the timber industry of that section of the state.

ACCIDENTS.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT AT BRAIDWOOD.

BRAIDWOOD, Ill., April 5.—This place to-day came near being visited by a disaster more terrible than the Diamond disaster a year ago. At noon news reached us of the flooding of the old shaft at the Wellington coal mine. One hundred men were at work in the mine at the time, and all escaped but five Italians, who worked in different parts of the mines. They were not seen to come out, although some seem to think they may have escaped with the rest and gone away unperceived during the excitement, which was intense. Some were wild, and rushed pell mell over one another. On being raised to the top, many were entirely exhausted. It is thought the entrance to the mine will be flooded to-night.

A FRIGHTFUL EXPLOSION.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 5.—A terrific explosion of powder occurred this morning at William Beury & Co.'s powder mill. The report was heard within a radius of twenty-five miles. The smoke and ashes were shot up high enough to be seen fifteen miles. Houses within a mile and a half were shaken and windows broken. William Yoxum, superintendent, was burned beyond recognition, but is still alive. Other people escaped.

THREE BOYS KILLED.

CINCINNATI, April 5.—Three boys, driving across a railroad crossing this afternoon, were struck by an engine and instantly killed. The bodies were horribly mangled. All were sons of well known citizens of Winton place.

STEAMER BEACHED.

HALIFAX, April 5.—The steamer New Castle City which sailed from this port for Boston yesterday morning, during a thick fog, struck a shoal and knocked several holes in her bottom. The captain attempted to return to Halifax, but the water poured into the steamer so fast that it became necessary to beach her in order to save the lives of the passengers.

IN WALL STREET.

The Bulls Control the Market—Several Shares Advance Sharply.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Governments, strong. Railways, weak. Stocks opened firm, and during the first few sales prices advanced ¼ to ⅜. Subsequently much weakness was shown, which was ascribed to manipulation by the bears and room traders. In the afternoon it was rumored that differences between the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Union Pacific had been settled, and there was a sharp demand to cover. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy jumped two points to 125½; Union Pacific rallied 1½ to 71; Western Union ¾ to 69½; and Pacific Mail ⅜ to 51¼. Near the close Union Pacific reacted to 70¼. The market closed firm. Compared with last night, closing prices are ¼ to 1½ per cent. higher. Union Pacific is 1½ lower, at 70¼. Sales of stocks for the week aggregate 1,705,153 shares, an increase of 109,911 shares.

CALIFORNIA.

The Southern Pacific.

[Special.]—Trains are now running over the Southern Pacific, but they are unable to make time over the sections recently damaged by floods, and come in from two to twenty hours behind time. H. M. McCartney, a well known engineer who came over the road two days ago, says that it will cost half a million dollars to repair the damages, for a section of seventy-five miles of track was washed out, in many instances there being as many as twenty breaks to the mile. These have been temporarily patched over, and trains feel their way along over rails that are buried in mud in some places, and over cribs made of ties in others. The location of the temporary track is 200 feet from the proper line in one place. It will be almost like building a new line to put the road in proper condition.

Hard Glove Fight.

[Special.]—A hard glove fight took place in this city last night between the well known local pugilists Martin Murphy and Frank Frayne. The police were off the scent, but there was a large attendance, including lawyers and well-known business men. After seven roughly contested rounds, in which there was no decided knock out, the match was declared a draw. Frayne was badly bruised about the chest. The match was a square contest and gave great satisfaction to the lovers of brutality.

A Hopeful Outlook.

[Special.]—The general business outlook in California was never better at the opening of the season than at the present time. Crop prospects are better than for several years past, and this creates confidence and activity in every branch of trade. "Business is good all round," said a merchant to me to-day. "California will certainly have a prosperous year."

Bicycle Races at San Jose.

SAN JOSE, April 5.—In the ten mile race this afternoon between John S. Prince, the bicyclist, and R. A. Rugadacker's trotting horse Captain Lewis, Prince won with ease. Time, 39:26½. In the mile dash between Mlle Armaindo and a running pony the latter won. In the half-mile dash between Mlle Armaindo and a trotting pony, the lady won in 1:35¼. Owing to a heavy wind T. C. Eck did not attempt to beat the best Pacific coast bicycle record, as announced, but made a half mile in 1:27¾, said to be the best coast half mile record by 4¾ seconds.

DUST TO DUST.

Funeral Services Over the Dead Prince—The Remains Deposited in the Royal Vault.

LONDON, April 5.—The Duchess of Albany this morning visited Memorial chapel, where the body of her husband was resting. She remained a short time alone with the dead. Funeral services took place at 11:30 this morning in St. George's chapel. The queen, Princess of Wales and Princesses Christian, Louise and Beatrice went from the castle through the deanery to the chapel. The Prince of Wales, Crown Prince Frederick William of Prussia, and other royal personages assembled in Memorial chapel and marched in procession to St. George's chapel. The Prince of Wales followed the coffin as chief mourner. The dean began service as the coffin entered the door. The choir sang "O God Our Help in Ages Past," and Spohr's anthem "Blessed are the Departed." The coffin was then placed in the vault. As the queen retired the choir sang "Lead Kindly Light." Chopin's "Funeral March" was played as the other royal personages withdrew.

The queen sat during the service weeping bitterly. All the young princes were sobbing. The prince of Wales was very pale. After service the Seaforth Highlanders, the duke's regiment, played "He will return to Lochaber no more."

POLITICAL.

REDUCED FARE TO THE CHICAGO DELEGATES.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The trunk lines have agreed to carry delegates and visitors to the republican and democratic national conventions in Chicago at one unlimited fare for the round trip, from the principal points in trunk line territory.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The House Passes the Agricultural Appropriation Bill.

THE USUAL DISCUSSION IN THE SENATE.

Proceedings of the Investigations of the Danville Riot, and the Charges against Governor Murray.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 5.

Cullom introduced a bill to reimburse several states for interest paid on war loans; referred.

The education bill was taken up, and Morgan continued his remarks in opposition to the bill.

He said there was less to be expected from the young negro population in contributions to the moral, social and political institutions of the country than was to be expected from the Arabs of the deserts of Egypt. This was not spoken reproachfully, but rather as one who despaired of finding a remedy for the trouble. He was not sure the morality of the negroes had been improved one particle since they were emancipated. He was beginning to believe that book learning was not the essential cure for the troubles of that race. The negro's trouble was a race affliction, from which he could never recover. The speaker's house had been set on fire and his children [illegible] because he had the courage to proclaim his convictions.

Blair's motion to recommit the bill to the committee was withdrawn, as were the amendments offered early in the debate by Harris.

Two proposed amendments by Logan were lost.

Logan then moved a third amendment, providing that no state should receive the benefit of the fund that did not distribute its school funds equally for all children, without regard to race or color; agreed to.

Hoar's amendment was then read, making the first year's appropriation seven million, the second year ten million, and the third year fifteen million, and then decreasing at the rate of two million annually until the eighth year.

Morgan admonished Hoar to keep the bill up to the maximum amount, otherwise it would weaken his bill and lose votes. It would not do to commit senators on the democratic side of the chamber to a bill that did not furnish a very large amount of money.

Hoar said he did not base his support of the measure on the general welfare clause of the constitution nor did he go into any subtle refinements as to distinction between land grants and money grants. "I think," said Hoar, "it is a better thing to try the experiment whether by elevating the black man he can be made fit for American citizenship, than, without trying that experiment, to cheat him out of his vote." Replying to a remark by Morgan that he was sorry the thought had not occurred to the senator before he enfranchised the black man, Hoar declared he would not be drawn into recrimination with regard to past history, recent or remote.

After further debate as to the time which should be allowed for consideration of the measure before bringing it to a vote, it was finally agreed that the bill be disposed of before adjournment Monday, the debate in the latter part of the day to be under the five minute rule.

After an executive session the senate adjourned.

House.

WASHINGTON, April 5.

Goff, from the committee on naval affairs, reported back the resolution requesting the secretary of the navy and war to report on the feasibility and expediency of constructing an interior coast and line of waterway for the Atlantic and gulf seaboards; adopted.

The morning hour was dispensed with, and the house went into committee of the whole (Hoyle in the chair) on the agricultural appropriation bills.

Several amendments were adopted, among them one increasing by $25,000 the appropriation for distribution of seeds, plants, etc., and then, the committee having risen, the bill was passed.

The house next took up for consideration the bill forfeiting the Oregon Central land grant, and after a long debate without final action, the matter went over.

The senate amendments were concurred in to the house bill making it a felony for a person falsely and fraudulently to assume or pretend to be an officer or employe acting under authority of the United States or any department thereof.

The speaker laid before the house a communication from the attorney general, addressed to Randall, submitting an estimate of the deficiencies in the appropriation for United States courts. The amount is $100,000; referred. Adjourned.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT-CHAT.

THE BROOKLYN DINNER.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—[Special.]—Several prominent democratic members of congress will attend the dinner to be given in Brooklyn by the young men's democratic reform club this evening. Senator Bayard, Representatives Slocum, Blackburn and Hurd and Senator Pendleton left for New York last evening. Colonel Morrison will attend, his duties not permitting him to be absent. Senator Cox, who is also compelled to absent himself, has written a letter in which, speaking of the Morrison bill before the house, he says: "The bill brought in by Mr. Morrison is moderate itself. Is there any valid reason why any enlightened party should refuse to support it? It is to be regretted that this question of tariff reform should depend so much upon partisan consideration. It is a question in whose solution the welfare and prosperity of the whole people are involved. I would be glad indeed if it were totally eliminated from partisan politics. It would then have fairer play and better opportunities for successful legislation. Nor do I despair, even now, at this time of more than debate. It is a notable fact that nearly all students of social statistics and writers on the subject of political economy are inclined to hold that it is not sound policy to impose restrictions on commerce or to foster one domestic industry at the expense of another. This is remarkable only for the reason that so many legislators take different views. Congress has for many years pursued an opposite policy on the theory of developing manufacture and maintaining high wages for operatives. I maintain that protection cripples industry. It keeps giants in its swaddling clothes. The custom house is an evil. It is a frontier system of [illegible] which surrounds the nation with a cordon of robbers."

PETITIONS FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—[Special.]—Senator Dolph presented to the senate yesterday a petition from the chamber of commerce of Tacoma, Washington territory, asking congress to pass the bill making that place a port of entry.

[illegible] yesterday presented to the house a petition signed by 1400 citizens of Washington territory praying for forfeiture of the Northern Pacific land grant, and stating that the late resolution of the Seattle chamber of commerce does not correctly represent the sentiment of that locality.

TO PUNISH INDIAN CRIMINALS.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Budd's measure for the punishment of Indian criminals passed as an amendment to the Indian appropriation bill. Under it a sheriff and posse, with process, need not await the slow movement of troops. Its enforcement, Budd claims, will punish many now protected under the mistaken policy of the government, which he strongly criticises in his speech.

THE DANVILLE RIOT.

Testimony of Congressmen Gibson and Wise, Defending the Democrats.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Danville committee to-day examined Ainslee Gibson, congressman from West Virginia. Up to the time of the riot the democrats had confident hope of carrying the county. The colored people became very much excited by the news of the riot, and would thereafter hold no intercourse with the democratic leaders. On the day of the election the voters came early, and about 130 colored men formed a line on the side of the road and shook their tickets, saying: "These are colored men's tickets." This was done with the intention of intimidating democratic darkies. The color line at that polling place was drawn entirely by colored men. The news of the riot was very damaging to the democrats.

Congressman George D. Wise of Virginia took the witness chair. Referring to the testimony of John S. Wise, witness quoted the remark: "I consider my case stronger now than when we started. He (Massey) has not proved anything, and I have proved some 700 perjuries and forgeries for his benefit." Witness said he was acquainted with the men assailed, and they were men who stood as high as any men in Virginia, and no man ever questioned their word. What were called perjuries and forgeries were delinquent taxpayers. The coalitionists selected a colored man as collector of delinquent taxes, who opened his office in the United States custom house at Richmond, and placed guards at the door. No one was allowed to pass in who was unacquainted with the guards. Streams of colored men were guided in there by these attendants. It was discovered on the day of the election that the second collector had given no bond. The reason for this was that one dollar had been made to serve the purpose of paying tax for 400 colored men. When a colored man entered a dollar was handed him. When it was paid to the officer it was carried back to the door-keeper, to be handed to the next colored man. The coalitionists arrested election officials at certain white precincts, and kept the polls closed during a portion of the day, when many democrats wished to vote. Witness took the names of between 200 and 300 democratic voters at two precincts alone who were thus prevented from voting. Adjourned.

THE CHARGES AGAINST MURRAY.

Chief Justice Harlan and Speaker Carlisle Testify in his Behalf.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court, was examined by Springer's committee to-day relative to the charges against Governor Murray, of Utah. The former was the legal adviser of Governor Murray when the charges were made in 1876. Justice Harlan visited Washington, and had an audience with Taft, then attorney general. "At that interview," Judge Harlan testified, "I said, clearly and explicitly, that Governor Murray had not knowingly made any improper charges." In reference to Governor Murray's character Judge Harlan said: "There is no man in Kentucky for whose integrity both as an officer and as a man, the people of that state, without distinction of party, would more readily vouch than for him. He has secured the enmity of some in the discharge of his duties, but beyond that very few people would question his integrity."

SPEAKER CARLISLE.

Speaker Carlisle said, relative to the character of Murray: "In Kentucky he stands almost as high as anybody in the state, as to the question of integrity or veracity, officially or otherwise. I say almost, for there may be some more prominent than he, but he stands as well as anybody."

Representative Stevenson moved that the committee give no further consideration to the case, saying there was nothing in the charges.

Stewart and Ryan acquiesced. Springer and Van Alstyne objected, on the ground that final action ought to be considered in secret session.

The committee went into secret session, and resolved that no further testimony would be heard in the case. Final action was postponed until the case could be considered by the full committee.

MURRAY CONGRATULATED.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Governor Murray has received from Henry Watterson the following dispatch, expressing gratification at Governor Murray's statement before the Springer committee:

"LOUISVILLE, April 5.

Hon. Eli H. Murray, Washington—I congratulate you. All your friends, without distinction of party, are with you, heart and soul.

HENRY WATTERSON."

FOREIGN NEWS.

INFORMERS SENTENCED TO DEATH.

PESTH, April 5.—An anarchist committee has sentenced to death persons who gave the police information implicating anarchists in the murder of Eisert, the Vienna banker.

THE RIOT AT DENAIN.

DENAIN, April 5.—The riot this morning of coal miners assumed serious proportions. Cavalry charged upon the crowd, and wounded several. The rioters fled, and cried "Long live the republic!"

THE DOMINION'S REVENUE.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 5.—The revenue of the Dominion for the nine months ended March 31 was $23,455,220; expenditure, $20,691,772.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

Umatilla county has 325,000 sheep.

Farmers nearly all have their crops in about Heppner.

Ten carloads of railroad iron per day is now arriving at the summit of the Blue mountains.

A Pendleton Chinaman was placed under a fine of $100 for drawing a weapon upon a white man.

Work will be commenced on the railroad bridge across Grand Ronde, just above Oro Dell, in a few days.

It is said that eagles are committing depredations on the young lambs in the John Day valley, to the serious loss of the sheep men in that locality.

Sheep shearing has begun in some localities in Umatilla county. The great problem perplexing sheep men at present is what the price of wool is going to be.

Centerville Exchange: Fears are entertained that the severe cold weather of last winter injured the fruit trees to such an extent that another fruit famine can be expected. The failure of the fruit crop for two successive years was never known before in the upper country, and it is to be hoped the fears of our people are unfounded.

John Easterbrook met with a very painful accident last Sunday at Heppner. Wishing to take a ride he procured a horse and when he went to mount, the steed suddenly jumped and sent him eighteen feet in the air. He fell upon his left arm and side, yet with the good fortune of no fractured bones, but received bruises on his arm and side.

The farmers about Prineville are well pleased with the outlook for good crops of grain this year. The ground is in better condition for cultivation this spring than it has been for years in this section. Especially is this the case in the bench lands, where too little moisture is common. This favorable condition of the ground is of course due to the extraordinary amount of rainfall the past month. On the bench lands in this valley at the present writing, the ground is moist from ten to twenty inches below the surface. A few more showers in season will insure a splendid yield of cereals the coming harvest.

Union county Recorder: Railroad matters are encouraging. The construction train is pushing its way to the front from Meacham, and last Saturday proceeded but about three miles, on account of the immense amount of snow on the track, which can be removed only by shoveling. Teams have also gone to the front for the bridge builders, and a new and additional force of Chinamen went to work on the grade on Tuesday. As had long been anticipated, the work has taken a new impulse from the 1st of April. The Pyle canyon forces have also been increased, and there is little doubt but that the work will now move right along.

Western Oregon.

The Dallas fire brigade has over forty members.

Dallas needs a public hall, large enough to hold 500 people.

Dallas has no hotel, but it has twenty one boarding houses.

The Willamette valley is rapidly filling up with eastern emigrants.

The Lane county, Oregon, anti-monopolists held a meeting at Eugene last Saturday.

The pioneers of Lane county, Oregon, have arranged for a reunion on the first Thursday in June.

The republican county convention of Clatsop county will meet at Astoria on Wednesday, April 23.

Polk county will send eight delegates to the republican state convention in Portland the 30th of this month.

The total amount of school funds in the hands of the county treasurer of Polk county is $12,401.91; the number of persons of school age as reported by district clerks is 2678, making the amount per capita $4.50.

Judge Boise and H. E. Hayes, grand master and grand lecturer of the Oregon State Grange, started Friday to spend a week in Douglas and Josephine counties, visiting and organizing subordinate granges. They have organized nine new lodges of the grange order this year.

Polk County Itemizer: It is quite probable that the third judicial district will have the honor of naming the next supreme judge. W. D. Fenton and Judge Strahan are prominently talked of for that position by the democrats of this state, and now we hear favorable mention of James McCain, Esq., as the republican nominee.

Washington Territory.

A ladies' relief society has been incorporated at Seattle.

Wheat is lower now in Walla Walla than at any time ever before known.

There are at present five logging camps in operation on the Snoqualmie river.

Mrs. J. R. Short of Walla Walla, was thrown from a buggy a few days ago, and very seriously injured.

The inmates of the territorial insane asylum are constantly increasing, and now number thirty-nine patients.

It is reported that work on the extension of the Pullman and Moscow railroad will be resumed in a few weeks.

An insane woman named Goth, and said to have formerly resided in Dayton, has been making things lively in Walla Walla.

On Monday Sheriff Marsh closed the Lafayette Boomerang on an attachment for $220, in favor of Walla Walla creditors.

Pomeroy is without a public hall, the one recently used for that purpose has been transformed into a machinery warehouse.

The Walla Walla Statesman says: April showers are beginning to be badly needed, and that grain will suffer soon unless rain comes.

A man named Anderson was put in the Colfax jail three or four times last week, but succeeded in getting out as soon as the marshal's back was turned.

Young Granney, who was seriously hurt at the Western mill on Lake Union near Seattle on Wednesday, is resting quietly at the hospital. His condition is not worse, and there is much hope for his recovery.

Says a Washington territory exchange: Eastern houses are shipping bacon along the Northern Pacific to towns at such a low figure that our meat curers say they can find no market for their products.

The roof of Charles Billings' shingle factory in East Olympia caught fire a few days ago just as the workmen were leaving, but was discovered in time to put it out. The factory and 100,000 shingles narrowly escaped being burned up.

Conductor Martin Buckley, who has been confined to St. Mary's hospital, Walla Walla, with typhoid pneumonia for about a week, died on April 1. Mr. Buckley came to this country from California about a year ago and had the "run" from Dayton to Wallula Junction during that time.

It will soon be demonstrated, says a Seattle exchange, that the telephone poles in the business part of the city are about ten feet too low. Where houses are to be moved it will be found a source of loss to the telephone people and annoyance to their patrons and a hindrance to those moving the buildings.

The Ilwaco and Gray's harbor railroad company held a meeting at Ilwaco last Tuesday, at which the following board of directors was elected: L. A. Loomis, A. W. Berry, H. S. Gile, Jacob Kamm and B. A. Seaborg. Thus far $23,600 of the stock has been taken, and but little difficulty will be met with in procuring the remainder.

A new military company, styled the "Capital Guards" was organized at Columbia hall, Olympia, Friday evening, and the following civil officers elected: M. O'Connor, president; L. W. Clark, vice president; Abel Brown, secretary; J. B. Shelton, treasurer; R. G. O'Brien, first drill master; Major C. E. Sears, second drill master.

A number of Walla Walla ladies who were in attendance at the city council on Tuesday evening presented a remonstrance against the existing houses of ill-fame, and further asked that such houses be confined to some stated locality. The petition was signed by about 100 ladies, and was referred to the committee on health and police.

Reports from Spokane farming sections are to the effect that the spring is backward, the frost still remaining in the ground in many places. Some fears are entertained that more moisture will be needed to insure good crops, and that for this purpose rain will be needed. On the other hand, the lateness of the season will probably afford immunity from frost and insure steady growth after crops are started.

Last Friday the board of prison commissioners—Governor Newell, Judge Hoyt, Auditor Reed, Treasurer Ford and Prosecuting Attorney McFadden, made an official visit to the territorial penitentiary at Seatco, and found its condition satisfactory. The visit was made in view of the new contract for two years' extension, authorized by the legislature to be made by the governor with the present contractor.

The delegates from the various branches of the Farmers' Protective association recently met in Colfax and organized the Central association. J. W. Arrasmith was chosen temporary chairman, and A. P. Flory temporary secretary. Permanent officers were elected as follows: President, J. M. Kincaid of Palouse City; vice president, I. K. Lude of Four Mile; recording secretary, A. P. Flory of Spring Flat; corresponding secretary, J. W. Arrasmith of Colfax; treasurer, G. H. Warner of Colfax. The next regular meeting of the Central association will be held at Colfax on Saturday, April 26.

A Walla Walla exchange contains the following bit of interesting "judicial history": Since the formation of the First Judicial district 5060 cases have been disposed of; 1460 in the first series, between 1860 and 1868, and 4600 between the latter date and the present time. The first term of court held in the inter-mountain region commenced in this city on June 4, 1860, with Judge William Strong, now of Portland, on the bench; Lycurgus Jackson, sheriff; Jas. Galbraith, at present M. P. for Kootenai, B. C., as clerk, and Ed. L. Bridges as prosecuting attorney. W. S. Gilliam, one of our present "solid" men was a member of the first grand jury. The term of court only lasted four days, while at present it is difficult for the court to clear the calendar in as many weeks.

A vicious brute named J. Yates, living on Dry Creek, near Colfax, recently made a most unprovoked and murderous attack on his wife, and probably would have killed the woman, had not her two sons interfered and overpowered the brutal husband and father. Yates, it appears, came home half intoxicated, and began to abuse his wife. Not satisfied with that he struck her with a stick of wood, then knocked her down with a pistol, and, drawing a knife was proceeding to carve the helpless woman, when the two boys came timely to the rescue of their mother. Yates was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, and held to await the action of the grand jury. His bonds were fixed at $2000, and being unable to furnish them, the brutal wretch now languishes behind cruel bars.

One Hundred and Twenty-Three Lost—Men, Women and Children Swept Overboard by the First Sea—The Captain's Statement.

HALIFAX, April 5.—Jas. A. Chisholm, of Chisholm Bros., agents for the [illegible], returned this afternoon from Sambro, where he went last night to look after the survivors of the wrecked steamer Daniel Steinmann. He saw Capt. [illegible] and obtained the following particulars of the wreck:

The steamer had fine weather on the passage with the exception of the last two days, when it was very foggy. [illegible] At [illegible] P. M. on the 3d inst., he saw a light ahead, which he took for Chebucto light, the fog making it appear about five miles off, but it could not have been more than one. He discovered it was the nearest the light, that it was Sambro, and he at once had time to reverse the engines as she struck [illegible]. The steamer struck twice, and began filling fast. He tried to run her ashore, but she sank in a few minutes.

THE CAPTAIN'S STATEMENT.

Following is the captain's statement: "On the 3d of April, after a voyage of [illegible] days from Antwerp, at 8 P. M., we were [illegible] dead reckoning. [illegible] owing to the fog and heavy rain I slowed dead slow, steered west [illegible], sounding every hour; about 9 I saw, through the mist, a faint light, about two points on the starboard bow, disappearing out of sight at intervals of four or five minutes, taking it for Chebucto. I steered for it, sounding thirty fathoms, and [illegible] twenty minutes afterwards I saw the fixed light, Sambro, a light appearing clear and at [illegible]. I took this to be Chebucto, about four points on the starboard bow; I sounded twenty-six fathoms. I then put the helm hard aport, but [illegible] too [illegible]; just then the ship struck on the rocks; at the time I did not hear the fog whistle [illegible]. The first shock was light, the second heavy, carrying away the steering gear; after this we could not get the engines to work, but drifted over the rocks and anchored, the ship lying pretty quiet, with little sea. I ordered the steerage and [illegible] boats out to get the children and female passengers in first.

THE SHIP GOES DOWN.

"While I saw this going on, having already one boat in the water and the crew working with a will, I saw that the ship was coming broadside again. When I ran forward to see if the chain cable wasn't broken; before getting there a monstrous sea broke over the poop, washing overboard every passenger, children and women, who stood on the deck; this was immediately followed by an awful crash, and the ship went down as quick as lightning, stern first, carrying every one down who was on deck, and those who were below. I ran up the fore rigging, but was washed out before getting half way, but afterwards succeeded in catching the foretopsail yards, which stood just above the water; a moment afterward a passenger [illegible]. The night was foggy and rainy, and we saw nothing until the next morning, were [illegible] rescued by three men from Sambro island, about 6 A. M., in one of our own boats, there being no life boat or rocket apparatus on the island; some of the crew had already succeeded in reaching land through the surf. The number of passengers crowded was eighty, crew, thirty-three. Saved—passengers, three; crew, six.

THE CAPTAIN'S REMARKABLE ESCAPE.

As soon as the ship struck, the captain ordered the passengers all on deck, but they were all swept overboard and drowned by the heavy seas which swept over her. Two passengers and two of the crew got into a boat and managed to reach the shore. The ship went down stern first. The captain, who was at his post on the bridge when she went down, threw off his boots and coat, and took to the fore rigging, but she sank fast and he could climb no more. He was obliged to let himself float, and after considerable trouble caught the top gallant yard and sitting there, with one of the passengers who also managed to keep himself afloat until 6 A. M. Friday, when a boat put off from the island and rescued them. The captain will remain on the island to look after the wreck, and will not come up to the city until the first of the week. No bodies have yet washed ashore.

THE LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER'S STATEMENT.

Alexander [illegible], one of the lighthouse keepers, [illegible] said: "I was in charge of the fog whistle from 6 to 8:30; I kept the whistle sounding a warning till it cleared off sufficiently to enable me to see distinctly [illegible]; then I stopped the whistle, the engineer deeming it unnecessary to keep it going; shortly before the engineer relieved me at 9:30 the lookout sighted a steamer about a mile south by west of the light; she ran about a mile, stopped, and then started ahead; she went 300 yards and stopped till [illegible]; she then struck on Broad Breaker shoal [illegible] began to back, it was very dark, [illegible] though it was still clear of fog. About twenty minutes after she began to back, this time she struck again, drifted across the shoal and sank between 400 and 430 yards from the island shore. My brother and I attempted to put out, but the boat was too small, and we then lit bonfires along the shore to warn boats against the dangerous coast. In the course of an hour a boat came in sight, which proved to be one of the boats of the steamer, containing [illegible]; we succeeded in landing them, and kept the fires going along the shore all night, saw nothing more until daybreak, when I observed two persons clinging to the forward rigging; the steward and three others put out and rescued the captain and one passenger; throughout the day the fog continued too thick for us to use signals; the sea was too boisterous to permit our landing on the mainland. We did all in my power to make those who had been saved as comfortable as the circumstances would permit."

Southern Oregon.

Nine new houses have just been built at Newport.

Douglas county District Lodge I. O. G. T. has been changed to April 25 and will continue through the 26th and 27th.

Last Tuesday night the city fathers of Marshfield passed an ordinance raising the price of liquor licenses from $100 to $300 per annum.

The spring term of school at Roseburg opened Monday with a total attendance of 170. They are divided up in the different grades as follows: Primary grade, 67; intermediate grade, 61, and senior grade, 34.

At Grubb's mill, near Marshfield, carpenters have just laid a 102 foot keel for a new schooner of 30 feet beam. Captain Holder has also just keel laid for the new schooner that he will build at Parkersburg. She will also be 30 feet beam.

The following business was transacted at the Roseburg land office for the month of March, 1884: 1052 acres sold for cash; 22 homestead entries, embracing 3123 acres; 9 final homestead entries, embracing 1055 acres; 12 preemption filings and 1 soldiers' homestead filing.

The following is the meteorological summary for March at Roseburg: Mean monthly barometer, 29.945; mean monthly temperature, 45.7; total rainfall, 3.37 inches; clear days, 3; fair days, 15; cloudy days, 2; cloudy days on which rain or snow fell, 11.

The Jacksonville Times: Farming seems to be the order of the day, and prospects are fine for heavy crops in Josephine county the coming season. The farmers have their Josephine county contract about completed. Quite a number of horses and cattle, have wintered in this section without being fed and the principal part of them look well.

The Oregon and California railroad company sent to Sheriff Parrish of Douglas county last Monday a check for $6,239.30, the amount of the taxes of that company on their road bed, improvements, side tracks, depot buildings and depot grounds. This amount covers all their taxes in this county except that on their land, which amounts to $223.15.

Writing from Mackay, Oregon, a correspondent says: Never did things look more prosperous at Mackay and surrounding country than now. The farmers all took advantage of the good weather and are through sowing, and are now busy plowing summer fallow. Our grain all looks well, and I must say it is quite a contrast to last year at this time, and it would do you good to meet one of our old farmers now, to see him smile and tell how fine his wheat looks.

Jacksonville Times: It is announced that Miller & Son will shut down their extensive saw mill near Grant's pass; also, that the sash and door factory which Portland capitalists intended starting there will not be built, at least for the present. This is to be regretted, as these enterprises would give employment to nearly one hundred men and many teams, who would consume a considerable portion of the products of southern Oregon. The reason is that under the present exorbitant tariff levied by the railroad company it is impossible to make the industries remunerative. Is there no remedy for this? We think there is, but the people must furnish it themselves.

Writing from [illegible] Valley to the Independence, Oregon, West Side, a correspondent says: The staple products of the country consist of wheat, corn, oats, barley and fruits. It is claimed that this is as good a corn producing country as either Iowa, Kansas or Nebraska. Under good tillage the usual yield of corn is from fifty to seventy bushels per acre. Peaches, apricots and grapes flourish very finely here. The day is not far distant, in my opinion, when viticulture and peach raising will be the chief industry of this valley, the climate and soil being particularly adapted to the successful cultivation of all kinds of fruits of the choicest varieties. A forty acre peach and grape farm will yield a larger income than most grain farms of 400 acres. The price of land ranges from $5 to $50 per acre, owing to locality and quality of soil, etc. Good grape growing land can be purchased for $5 to $20 per acre.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

SATURDAY, April 5.

The calendar week has witnessed very little fluctuation in produce values. Wheat weakened because of buyers having completed their needs. Oats sold lower, but the feeling is rather better. Eggs submitted to a decline to 15 cents under heavy stocks. Other produce lines moved along in an even channel with not the least sign of speculative inquiry. Receipts were of an even character, stocks generally showing no accumulation. The export movement is not of special interest. On the whole the week has been one of marked quiet. The sailing of the northern steamer made scarcely any stir for two days.

[illegible] receipts include [illegible] baking powder, [illegible] tobacco, [illegible] bottled beer.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS.—Past 24 hours: 2961 qrs wheat, 836 bbls flour, 36 [illegible], [illegible] sks potatoes, [illegible] butter, 130 bbls lime. Also 2527 ctls wheat, 577 bbls flour, 4731 lbs hides, 213 ctls bran from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS.—The wooden ship Olive S. Southard, 1197 tons, was taken last Monday by G. [illegible] & Co for wheat loading. The transaction was kept very quiet, and when rumor hinted it during the week was denied. The rate paid is reserved. By some it is stated to be 2s 6d better than last charters, or 45s. This is disputed, and certainly in the face of the late weakness the figure named is too high. With nothing transactions for next season's loading can be given. San Francisco reports [illegible] accepting 42s 6d for November, and from 47s 6d October, with 45s for October from low asked.

WHEAT.—A dull and inactive market is continued. There are few buyers in market, even at their price—$1.25 for valley. In the case of other dealers buying now is also [illegible]. A large lot of Walla Walla was recently sold here at $1.42½ on wharf. This was from shipper to shipper, and is favored locality. It is said to be 2½c above the market for ordinary sized lots of Eastern wheat. Chicago options steadily decline, and to-day 85½c is quoted for May. This is 22c below highest quoted price for the same option. Spot is low with freights to New York 18 [illegible] per bushel, which is quoted relatively higher, yet a little [illegible] third. The foreign markets keep up their reputation for weakness.

OATS.—Receipts for the time being are very small, holders in the interior evidently not caring to force the market. Stocks are only fair, and values steadier at 47½@50c.

POTATOES.—Market well supplied, with no important buyers in market. Only the regular trade is doing, and paying prices do not exceed the fair ordinary rate.

PROVISIONS.—The movement is only fair and values are generally well maintained.

CHICKENS.—Plenty offering at $5 bkt for best.

EGGS—Selling freely at 15c; retailers sell out at 20c.

WOLFE'S

Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps.

As a general beverage, necessary corrective of water rendered impure by vegetable decomposition or other causes, as limestone, sulphate of copper, etc., the AROMATIC SCHNAPPS is superior to every other alcoholic preparation. A public trial of over thirty years' duration in every section of our country, of UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS, its unsolicited indorsement by the medical faculty, and a sale unequaled by any other alcoholic distillation, have insured for it the reputation for salubrity claimed for it. For sale by all druggists and grocers.

CANCER.

The experience in the treatment of Cancer with Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) would seem to warrant us in saying that it will cure this much dreaded scourge. Persons so afflicted are invited to correspond with us.

I believe Swift's Specific has saved my life. I had virtually lost use of the upper part of my body and my arms, from the poisonous effects of a large cancer on my neck, from which I had suffered for 20 years. S. S. S. has relieved me of all soreness, and the poison is being forced out of my system. I will soon be well. W. R. ROBISON, Davisboro, Ga.

Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a woman afflicted with a cancer on her shoulder at least 5 inches in circumference, angry, painful and giving the patient no rest day or night for 6 months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific for her. She has taken six bottles, and the ulcer is entirely healed up, only a very small scab remaining, and her health is better than for years past; seems to be perfectly cured. REV. JESSE H. CAMPBELL, Columbus, Ga.

I have seen remarkable results from use of Swift's Specific on cancer. A young man here, who has been afflicted 5 years with the most angry looking eating cancer I ever saw, and was nearly dead. The first bottle made a wonderful change, and after 5 bottles were taken, he is nearly or quite well. It is truly wonderful. M. F. CRUMLEY, M. D., Oglethorpe, Ga.

[illegible] EATING AWAY BY CANCER.

My father had an eating cancer for several years, which had eaten away his under lip and the inside of his cheek down to the bottom of his gums. We got some of Swift's Specific and gave him, and the effect has been wonderful, almost miraculous. The sores are all healed and he is perfectly well. Every one here said it was only a question of time about his death, and his cure has created the greatest excitement in this part of the country. I hope you will publish above, and send me some circulars to give to my friends and the afflicted. WM. [illegible], South Easton, Mass., Jan. 7, 1884.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

KNOW THYSELF.

A Great Medical Work on Manhood.

Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, Errors of Youth, and the untold miseries resulting from indiscretions or excesses. A book for every man, young, middle-aged and old. It contains 125 prescriptions for all acute and chronic diseases, each one of which is invaluable, so found by the author, whose experience for 23 years is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any physician. 300 pages, bound in beautiful French muslin, embossed covers, full gilt, guaranteed to be a finer work in every sense—mechanical, literary and professional—than any other work sold in this country for $2.50, or the money will be refunded in every instance. Price only $1.00 by mail, post paid. Illustrative sample 6 cents. Send now. Gold medal awarded the author by the National Medical Association, to the officers of which he refers.

This book should be read by the young for instruction, and by the afflicted for relief. It will benefit all.—London Lancet.

There is no member of society to whom this book will not be useful, whether youth, parent, guardian, instructor or clergyman.—Argonaut.

Address the Peabody Medical Institute, or Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass., who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Chronic and obstinate diseases that have baffled the skill of all other physicians a specialty. Such treated successfully without an instance of failure.
